

SECTION C3

The University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

Taught online

Monday: asynchronous via readings and short writing assignments

Wednesday/Friday: synchronous via Zoom

SELECTED COMMENTS

Ms. Cheslow is a very positive person. [...] I actually enjoyed attending my zooms for Rhet 105 because of Ms. Cheslow. Her positivity makes the course more engaging. [...] I really do believe I have improved on my writing because of her teaching.

I loved how you were always excited to teach us. No matter what mode I was in your energy gave me energy.

Ms. Cheslow was an amazing teacher this semester. She always answered my emails in a timely manner, and understood when I needed an extra day to two to complete an assignment. [S]he was probably one of the most helpful teachers I've had this semester.

STUDENT RESPONSES

13 out of 17 students responded to course evaluations

Scale: 1 Ineffective - 5 Very Effective

*Students ranked understanding in 5 categories in rhetoric, research, and argument

SECTION D5

The University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

Taught online

Monday: asynchronous via readings and short writing assignments

Wednesday/Friday: synchronous via Zoom

SELECTED COMMENTS

[Ms.] Cheslow does a great job in this class. I walked in to class hating writing papers, but now, I do not mind it at all.

Writing is somewhat enjoyable now and my writing skills are a lot better.

She is very open to helping her students. Gives great feedback to improve.

I really felt connected with the teacher and she was always willing to help during our 1on1 zoom calls.

The instructor is very understanding but not lax, she understands that people have stuff do in their lives but also understands the importance of discipline when it comes to following directions and deadlines.

STUDENT RESPONSES

14 out of 18 students responded to course evaluations

Scale: 1 Ineffective - 5 Very Effective

*Students ranked understanding in 5 categories in rhetoric, research, and argument